

EDDIE’S EDITORIAL

Bible study is always an important endeavor in the life of a Christian. We are always looking for ways that will help us get the most out of Bible study. Below are some thoughts to Bible study that might help each of us get the most out of our study.

1. Take careful notice of who is doing the speaking. The book of Job is a good example. Is it Job or one of his friends doing the speaking?
 2. Take careful notice of who is being spoken to. Such as Acts 1:8. Is it directed to the apostles and or to Christians today?
 3. Study the verses before and after the verse you are focusing on. Often they will help to understand what is being said.
 4. Is the language literal or figurative? Good to know if one begins a study in Revelation.
 5. If one verse contradicts another verse you need to take a closer look. The Bible never contradicts itself.
 6. Use common sense in studying the Bible just as you would any other book.
- Looking forward to seeing you Sunday. Be sure to give our visitors a warm welcome. Eddie

Landon's Letters

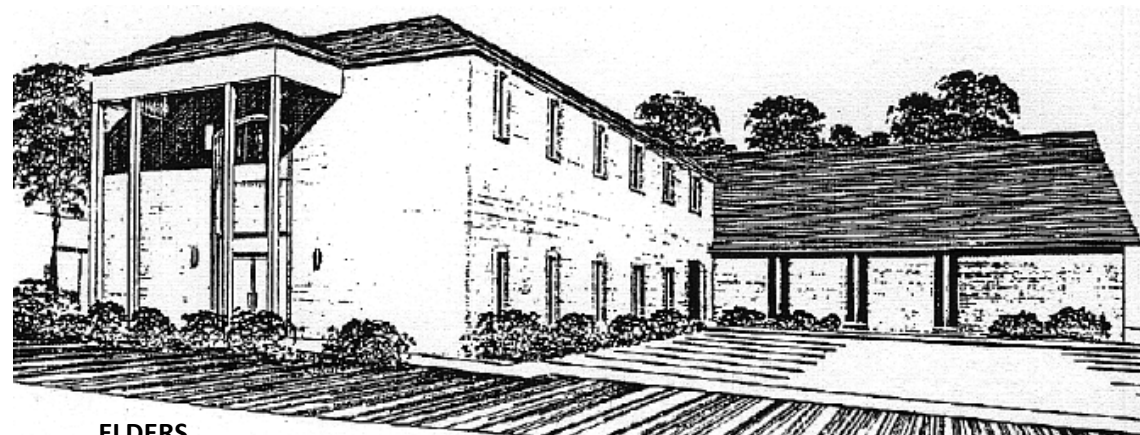

As a child there are many times when we are sleeping and our parents come in to wake us up that we beg for just five more minutes of sleep, or maybe we are an adult and we are sleeping so well and that alarm clock goes off and we just want to continue sleeping so we hit the snooze button and continue sleeping. When we do this though we usually end up in a rush trying to get ready when we finally wake up and it can become chaotic. When I think of this I think of how so many people are doing this with our Heavenly Father. They are the people who know they need to make a change in their life or put Christ on in baptism, but they choose not to because they say they have all the time in the world to make things right and they want to live their life and have fun for the moment. The problem with this logic is that we are not promised another day here on this earth! It is like the song that we sing there is death and danger in delay! If you are one of these people be sure to make that change while you have the chance!

See you all on Sunday Lord willing!

In Him, Landon
