

EDDIE'S EDITORIAL

One thing the virus has taught us is, just who do you believe? There have been so many contradictions it is hard to know what the truth is. In the beginning they said the virus would pass in 15 days. Here we are six months later still with the virus. Some say wear a mask while others say it's better to not wear a mask. They said the heat would kill it and now maybe the cold will kill it. Certain medicines do not work and now those same medicines will work. They said being outside is the best place to be but now only in groups of ten or less. And the contradictions continue to roll.

Aren't you glad God and Jesus are not this way. Changing from day to day. Changing the word to fit the moment. God nor His word will ever change. Hebrews 13:8, "Jesus the same yesterday, and today and forever." Eddie

Landon's Letters

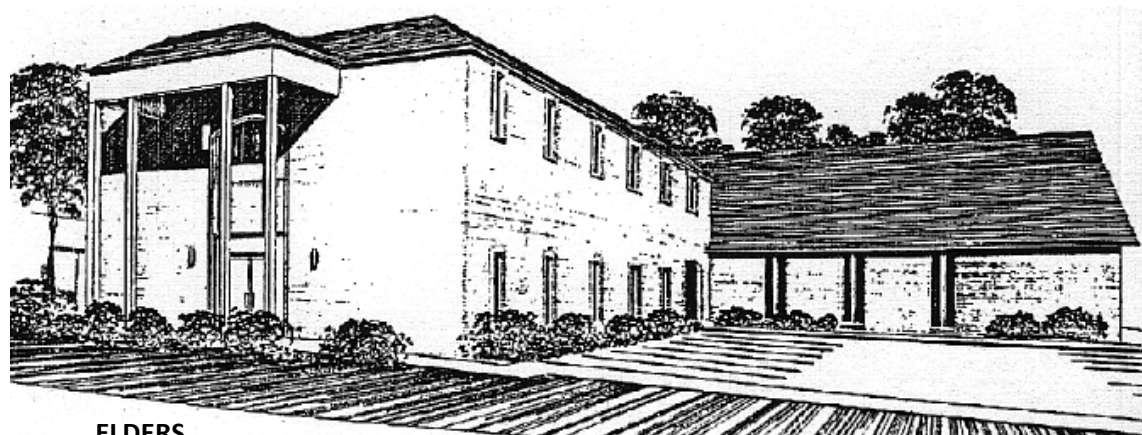

This morning I read a post on Facebook about a traumatic incident involving a ten year old boy. He was out on the beach with his family playing in the sand and he dug down into a sinkhole and started sinking fast. People from all over the beach sprung into action and started trying to dig down for him or calling 911 for help. After a few minutes of people trying to help some could have lost hope and stopped, but they didn't. There were many who were standing around watching after the police got there and took over and then what they began to do probably shocked some people. It said there was quite a few people either getting down on their knees in prayer or they bowed their head to pray for God to help this young boy. In the end he had spent 15 minutes in the sinkhole, but when they pulled him out there was nothing wrong with him. No shortness of breath or anything. In this time that could have ended badly many people turned to God to ask for help for the young boy. Some would claim that it had everything to do with mans quick action that saved the boy, but for me I believe that God answered the prayers of the righteous. James 5:16 tells us that the prayer of a righteous man can accomplish much! We need to be sure that we are in constant prayer! Who knows what it might accomplish in our lives!

In Him, Landon
